

Committee Sets the Mark on Float Fund—People of Glendale Will Pass It

The joint committee of the Greater Glendale Development association and the Glendale Chamber of Commerce has announced that $1000 is the minimum amount for which, with the aid of volunteer workers, a float to represent Glendale, the fastest growing city in the United States, can be secured and placed in the Tournament of Roses parade at Pasadena on New Year's day to be viewed by many thousands of tourists and residents of southern California. This estimate is based upon the cost of last year's prize winning float entered by Glendale, by individual investigation made by members of the committee and by knowledge of what other cities propose to spend on floats. Further, the committee announces that it must know by next Saturday night just what sum the people of Glendale wish to invest in the float. The committee, next Saturday night, plans to decide upon the design of float. To do that, the committee must know how much money the people wish to spend. To have that necessary knowledge, the total of subscriptions must be known in the office of The Evening News, where subscriptions are being taken, before the committee meets on Saturday night. Therefore, the subscription list will close Saturday afternoon, by the order of the committee. Also, the committee has decided that it will not go into debt to finance the float—it will contract to spend just what the people of the city wish to invest in the float. Therefore, all subscriptions must be paid on or before Saturday afternoon. The Evening News is securing the subscriptions for the float—and donating many columns of publicity on the subject—solely that Glendale may be aroused to the fact that it has an excellent opportunity—by means of a fitting float in the Tournament of Roses parade in Pasadena—to further remind the many thousands of visitors to the southland that it is the fastest growing city in the United States. The subscription campaign is costing both time and money. But both are being given gladly because we want to see Glendale benefit to the full. The committee declares it will do its best with the amount of money the people of Glendale decide to invest in the float. The committee has set $1000 as the minimum at which a suitable float can be secured. Up to now, over $500 has either been paid in or pledged. Today is Wednesday. The committee must know by Saturday the amount the people wish to invest. The committee announces any subscription—no matter how small—is welcome. The people of Glendale, now that they know the situation, will, of course, see to it that the fund is over-subscribed. They will not have Glendale represented by a float that is cheap—and looks it. They will give to the fund as their means permit. They will over-subscribe the fund before Saturday. The people of Glendale have community pride; they want the best; they are going to get it. The fund will be over-subscribed—but each must make his or her subscription at once.

AMOUNT IS SET ON CITY FLOAT

SUM OF $1000 IS MINIMUM AMOUNT FOR WHICH DIS-PLAY IS POSSIBLE

SATURDAY FINAL DAY

COMMITTEE MUST KNOW EXACT TOTAL BEFORE DESIGN IS FINALLY SELECTED

At least $1000 is required to finance a float to represent the city of Glendale in the Tournament of Roses parade at Pasadena on New Year's day.

This sum was fixed as the minimum amount at which a float suitable to the fastest growing city in the United States can be secured, with the aid of a corps of volunteer workers, was the decision of the joint committee representing the Greater Glendale Development association and the Glendale Chamber of Commerce in session at the city hall last night, with Chairman R. F. Kitterman presiding and Miss Eva Daniels as secretary.

Further, the committee decided that whatever sum the people of Glendale decide to invest in a float must be subscribed and paid into the office of The Evening News on or before next Saturday. For the committee meets Saturday night to consider the selection of a design and will not, it was decided last night, make a choice that will exceed the sum of money on hand.

The committee, in other words, decided to spend the amount the people of Glendale subscribe—and pay into the office of The Evening News—by Saturday of this week. The committee, it was declared, does not intend to go into debt and trust to luck to raise the remainder of the money needed after the float design is selected and the work completed.

Therefore, as was pointed out at last night's meeting, it is up to the people of Glendale to decide whether the city is to be represented by a float that is—and looks—cheap; or by a float that is really a credit to the fastest growing city in the United States.

Based upon the cost of last year's prize winning display, investigation made by the individual members of the committee and, too, prices being asked this year by dealers in flowers, the sum of $1000 is the minimum amount at which the committee feels it can produce a float that will reflect credit on Glendale.

Subscription Receipts for Evening News Set New Record for Year

Thus far this month Evening News' subscription receipts have gone beyond any preceding month since January 1 of the present year. The cause for this large increase is two-fold, viz., the growing demand for the local daily paper on account of its real merit and the old-fashioned thrift habit so many people have of paying a year's subscription in advance.

As to the merit of The Evening News it has been the talk of the town, and congratulations from readers come from every hand. Thanks for the kind words. It is, indeed, a pleasure to know that really every citizen of Glendale is an enthusiastic booster for the community daily paper.

These yearly subscriptions in the form of checks for five dollars are substantial indications of approval on the part of appreciative citizens.

Watson Is Booster

Thomas D. Watson, owner of the Glendale Sheet Metal Works, this morning sent in the following self-explanatory communication in reference to the float fund:

"Am enclosing herewith $15 as my subscription to the float fund. When I noticed your write-up asking who would be the first to subscribe, was tempted to be the first, but recognizing the fact that the difficult part of raising subscriptions is towards the end of the goal, decided to wait and help push over the grade. Am pleased to be able to help advertise Glendale in any way I can, as I have every confidence in the future of Glendale and want to have a part in its upbuilding.

"Yours truly,
"THOMAS D. WATSON."

TRACES OF EARLY CHRISTIANS

TOKIO—Students of the history of Christianity in Japan are interested in the recent discovery near Osaka of a tombstone over 300 years old bearing the Christian name "Maria Uyeno," together with a book in which the full text of the Bible is copied in the Japanese kana characters. The relics are believed to establish the fact conclusively that Christians lived over 300 years ago in the village of Kiyotanimaru, where they were found.

TUESDAY CLUB IS PROSPEROUS

CLEAR OF DEBT, OWNS THREE LOTS AND CLUBHOUSE IS NOW CONSIDERED

EXCELLENT RECORD

GOOD REPORTS MADE; VERY PLEASING PROGRAM FOR CHRISTMAS GIVEN

The Tuesday Afternoon club are property owners; they now own, clear of debt, three beautiful lots on Brand boulevard near Lexington.

Moreover, the club will soon be in the landlord class; for the president, Mrs. Charles Hutchinson, announced at yesterday's meeting that plans would be set on foot at once for the building of a clubhouse. The past presidents, the president and the executive board will constitute a committee to formulate these plans.

These projected plans are made possible by the remarkable team work of this energetic body of intelligent women, who have already earned approximately $1500 since the beginning of the club season three months ago and whose success is due to their harmonious pulling together, five hundred strong.

Bazaar Nets $907.35

The receipts from the Christmas bazaar, held on December 3, netted $907.35. Expenses were less than $10. The ladies made the ice-cream, cakes, aprons, fancy work—everything they possibly could do to keep down the expense account was done. Nearly everything was donated by the members or by interested friends.

Two other entertainments given this fall, earlier in the club year, bring the total of their earnings so far this year up to the $1500 mark, an average of $500 a month. If they continue at this rate for the rest of the year—and who doubts that they will?—they will open the next club year in their new club home; in fact, no one would be much surprised to see the clubhouse completed even before that time.

Besides this money earned during the past three months, the club owns $2300 worth of Liberty Bonds.

Raised $50 in Ten Minutes

At yesterday's meeting Mrs. C. W. Houston outlined in breezy, effective manner a plan to raise in ten minutes the $50 fee for the architect's plan for the clubhouse. She had 23 (Continued on Page 3)

COUPLE WEDDED

JAMES P. DEAN AND MRS. ANNA CURRENT ARE MARRIED IN
S. E. GRANT HOME

Sunday afternoon at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Grant, 1209 East Lexington drive, in the presence of fifty guests, James Preston Dean and Mrs. Anna Current were united in marriage by the Rev. W. E. Edmonds. Miss Pearl Dean was bridesmaid; Master Roland Current, groomsmen; Miss Marjorie Current, ring bearer. The decorations were of chrysanthemums and smilax artistically festooned around the rooms.

At the conclusion of the ceremony a wedding supper was served, and after the relatives and friends had viewed the many beautiful wedding gifts they joined in sending the happy couple on their honeymoon trip to Mt. Lowe.

Mr. Dean is a brother of Mrs. S. E. Grant and is an extensive farmer at Huron, South Dakota. Mrs. Dean is well known in Glendale, being an active member of the Christian church and of the Rebekahs. They will make their home in Glendale for the winter, leaving in the spring for South Dakota.

GREAT TRIBUTE FOR W. E. EVANS

BAR ASSOCIATION OF FORMER HOME IN KENTUCKY GIVES FINE INDORSEMENT

URGED FOR CONGRESS

TELEGRAM IS RECEIVED BY THE EVENING NEWS FROM HIS OLD HOME TOWN

The bar association of London, Ky., the former home of W. E. Evans, city attorney of Glendale and suggested as a candidate for congress in the ninth district to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Charles Van de Water, by unanimous vote has passed a resolution of confidence in Mr. Evans and assures the people that he would be of genuine service in congress.

Glendale Republicans have endorsed Attorney Evans as a candidate for congress and it is probable that his name will be presented to the district conference to be held in Pasadena on Dec. 17, when delegates from all sections of the district, to the number of 300 and more, will assemble to decide upon a candidate to succeed Mr. Van de Water.

The telegram containing the information that the bar association of London, Ky., had endorsed Attorney Evans was received by The Evening News this morning. It was signed by H. J. Johnson, chairman. The organization contains twenty-six members and the resolution was unanimously adopted. The telegram follows:

The bar association of London, former home of W. E. Evans, where he was prominent as citizen, lawyer and Republican, by unanimous resolution hasten to assure the people of California that they will do the nation genuine service by sending Mr. Evans to congress to succeed the late Charles F. Van de Water. We vouch for him and guarantee he will make good.

The endorsement is considered by Attorney Evans' friends to be a fine tribute to him. The Glendale Republicans have taken formal action also, while in other sections of the district friends of Attorney Evans are urging that he be brought before the Pasadena conference as the candidate to succeed Mr. Van de Water.

Bargain Day

Were Glendale inclined to boastfulness, she might well talk big about her talented, clever, resourceful women.

Among them are story-writers, musicians, practical philanthropists and many capable business women.

Among the last-named class Mrs. J. W. Lawson stands in the front rank.

"Everybody loves a bargain," says Mrs. J. W. Lawson, chairman of general arrangements of the Christmas bazaar of the Church of the Holy Family, now in progress. "Everybody loves a bargain; we all hunt them up, in the grocery stores, the meat markets, the dry goods stores—why not a bargain day at a fair?"

And so, like the astute manager of a department store, she has gone around to each booth or department making substantial reduction in all the wares for this last day of the fair.

Shrewd business management demands a "quick turnover," and "what's the good of having things left over?" is Mrs. Lawson's theory.

HEAR RUMBLES OF PARTY INSURRECTION

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

MARION, Ohio, Dec. 15.—Rumbles of possible insurrection among Republican irreconcilables in the senate were reaching President-elect Harding through various channels today. He may call some of their leaders to Marion shortly with a view of nipping any insurgent movement such as wrecked the Taft administration. Primarily the irreconcilables fear Harding leaning too far in favor of the League of Nations, according to advices received here. Among other sources of apprehension is the new cabinet and the belief that Harding intends to appoint Herbert Hoover.

BONUS WOULD CAUSE HARDSHIP, CLAIMED

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—Granting of a soldiers' bonus at present would inflict a great hardship on taxpayers, Senator McCumber of North Dakota, acting chairman of the senate finance committee, declared today. The fight to have the senate adopt the bonus act passed by the house last session was opened today before the senate finance committee by representatives of world war veterans.

Float Brings Him

Another individual whom Glendale's prize-winning float was the means of attracting to this city is E. E. Gordon, of Gordon's Ladies' Ready-to-Wear shop, 119 North Brand boulevard.

"I saw that beautiful float," says Mr. Gordon, "and I decided that only a worth-while city would enter such a masterpiece as that. So I decided to investigate, to see whether my deductions were well founded.

"About a month later I came to Glendale, looked the field over, and decided that this was the place for my shop. The float brought me here; I'm glad I came, and we want an equally beautiful float this year to advertise Glendale again."

CONFESSES PART IN ROBBERY

Eastman Is Honored

Allen R. Eastman, manager of Glendale Branches of the Los Angeles Trust & Savings bank, has been granted by the head office three weeks' leave of absence for vacation, commencing December 16. Two weeks is for regular vacation he did not get last summer on account of being sent to Glendale last July. This prize consisted of a week's outing to Lake Tahoe with all expenses paid.

MAY SET POLICY ON EXTENSIONS

BOARD OF TRUSTEES ASKED TO SET FORMAL DEMANDS ON ELECTRIC SERVICE

NEW SUB-DIVISIONS

MANY REQUESTS COMING IN FOR EXTENSIONS; PLAN BY CITY MANAGER

Because of the fact that the present building activity in the city of Glendale is causing a number of new sub-divisions to be placed on the market and, it follows, requests for extensions of electric service, T. W. Watson, city manager, is urging that a formal declaration of policy by the board of trustees be made in regard to the electrical extensions.

In a communication addressed to the board of trustees, City Manager Watson says:

"As far as we can learn there has been no formal declaration of policy by your board in regard to extensions of electric service to new subdivisions or for the extension of electric distribution lines to sections of the city where the business to be derived therefrom would not warrant such extension. It has been the practice of the city heretofore through the public service department to install pole lines for the distribution of electricity in newly subdivided areas at the expense of the subdividers and to reimburse the subdividers for such expense in the sum of $50 for each consumer taken on such lines until such outlay has been returned.

Many Applications Received

"The present building activity in Glendale is resulting in the placing on the market of a number of new subdivisions and applications for extensions of electric service to such subdivisions are constantly being received. It would greatly facilitate the handling of these applications if a formal declaration of policy in regard thereto by your board was of record. We therefore submit the following for your consideration:

"That the policy of the city of Glendale in the making of extensions to the electric distributing system in newly subdivided areas and in districts that are not sufficiently populated to furnish enough consumers that would be served by such lines to warrant such extension, that all such extensions be made at the expense of the property holders or in-

Life Insurance Protects the Home

You may be in good health today and think life insurance unnecessary. When you decide that you want it, impaired health may prevent you from passing the examination. There is no time like the present. Delays are dangerous.

You have insurance on your building, although the probability of a fire is small, but there is one thing absolutely certain, and that is death.

Your economic value to your family lies in your ability to provide the necessities of life.
When you are taken away, that ability, your earning power, goes with you. If your family is left without resources, their experience may be very severe.

Are you fully insured?

Mr. and Mrs. A. Gardener, of Denver, Colorado, are spending the winter in Glendale and are domiciled at 214 East Chestnut street. Mr. Gardener owns a fine ranch near Denver. He and Mrs. Gardener spent the winter here several years ago, and they were amazed in the great growth Glendale has made since their last visit. They have visited every city in the Southland, and they say that in their opinion Glendale far surpasses any of them as a place for a home or for a business investment. It is probable that Glendale's charms, combined with the fact that they have relatives here, will lead the Gardeners to dispose of their Colorado holdings and make their permanent home here.

THE FIREFLY'S LIGHT

Fame and fortune await the scientist who discovers the secret of the familiar firefly or lightning bug. No one has been able to tell how the little insect produces the flashes of light we see twinkling about on dark nights. Careful scientific tests have proven, however, that this light is produced with about one four-hundredths part of the energy which is expended in the flame of a candle.
Considering the strength or rather feebleness of the firefly's light is believed to be the most efficient form of illumination today. If this method could be understood and put to work it is calculated that the energy exerted by a boy in driving a bicycle would be sufficient to run a powerful dynamo or light miles of streets of lamps. The light of the firefly is practically heatless and it is believed among scientists that the future of the lighting industry of the world depends upon the discovery of heatless light.

The advance figures of the Census of Manufacturers support a belief that the total value of the manufactured products of the United States for the year 1919 will exceed $60-000,000,000—half the manufactured production of the world.

TUESDAY CLUB

PLEASING PROGRAM IS GIVEN AT MEETING; NUMBERS ARE WELL RECEIVED

handsome dolls left from the bazaar.
She appointed 20 ladies to collect twenty-five cents from each member present who was willing to give it, and to give them in return a chance on the dolls. In ten minutes Mrs.
Houston had the $50.

The president, Mrs. Hutchinson, spoke appreciatively of the co-operation shown in the bazaar work, and Mrs. Charles Temple, chairman of ways and means, thanked the chairmen of the various sections and each and every member for their harmonious, effective work. Mrs. Temple also thanked those outside the club who donated articles for sale, or in other ways showed a spirit of appreciation of the club's efforts and its value as a civic asset.

The Evening News also received its share of the ladies' gratitude for publicity and efficient boost work given the bazaar.

Mrs. Boyer made an appeal for donations for Christmas cheer for the old men at the county farm. Articles especially desired are soft candles or the money to buy them, pocket mirrors, framed pictures, pocket combs, new pipes, ties, handkerchiefs, pocket money, or anything else that will bring cheer to the drab lives of these old men, whom the county provides with food and shelter, but who, being human, crave a few of the "unnecessary necessities" of life—such as pocket mirrors, a couple of small coins to jingle in their pockets, new pipes and a little Christmas candy.

Mrs. R. W. Meeker announced that the ladies might buy tickets from her for the entertainment the film folk were giving for the Christmas fund to aid the poor of the entire county.

The Program

The Christmas motif was carried out in the decorations by means of a most artistic arrangement of poinsettias, California's Christmas flower, and masses of ferns and palms, a setting most fitting for the following remarkable program of Christmas music especially prepared for the occasion by the Madrigal club:

Two Carols, sung in distance,
(a) Silent Night, Holy Night (Haydn) (b) The First Noel, Traditional, Madrigal Club.

Contralto Solo—The Virgin's Lulaby (Dudley Buck), Mrs. A. M. Drap-per.

The Dance of the Sugar Plums, L. E. Orth, Madrigal Club.
Piano Solo—Hallelujah Chorus (Handel), Miss Gertrude Champlain.
17th Century Christmas Hymn—Arranged by Max Spicker, Madrigal Club.

Original Christmas Story—"The Star of the Prairie," Mrs. John Cotton.

Solo and Chorus—Bethlehem, S.
R. Gaines, Mrs. Draper and Madrigal Club.

The concert was given under the direction of Mrs. Charles Addison Parker, with Mrs. John A. Wright as accompanist.

The singers were "out of sight" in the first number, literally as well as in a slangily complimentary sense.
Their voices came from an anteroom, clear and perfectly blended; without accompaniment they sang Haydn's dearest loved "Silent Night, Holy Night," then "The First Noel," to whose final chorus the white-sur-pliced singers marched slowly up the aisle and took their places on the stage.

Mrs. A. M. Draper's lovely contralto was heard to advantage in "The Virgin's Lullaby," and "The Dance of the Sugar Plums" was a merry morsel of ensemble work as delicious as its name.

Miss Gertrude Champlain's piano number, Handel's Hallelujah Chorus, was enthusiastically received, and the applause continued until she arose in her place and bowed her acknowledgement.

Spicker's "17th Century Christmas Hymn" was another artistic piece of ensemble work by the club; the singers gave an intelligent and beautiful interpretation of this classic, stately and devotional as befits a hymn.

A noted feature of the afternoon's entertainment was the original Christmas story, "The Star of the Prairie," by Mrs. John Cotton. Not only is Mrs. Cotton a raconteur of parts, but she is also a story writer of real ability, as her tender, interesting little narrative of "Grannie" proved yesterday. This was proven by the sustained interest that held her audience throughout the telling of the story.

The closing number of the program, "The Star of Bethlehem," the solo part sung by Mrs. Draper, was a telling climax to the lovely musical treat with which the Madrigal club regaled fellow members of the Tuesday Afternoon club. One of the very pleasing characteristics of Mrs.
Draper's singing is her distinct enunciation. With seemingly no effort at all on her part, every syllable of every word is distinctly understood even in the farthest part of the hall. To be able to understand the words of the singer is a point much appreciated by an audience.

A Perfect Day

The bazaar's returns being so gratifying, the architect's $50 fee being so promptly raised, and the Christmas program of the Madrigal club being such a treat, the president, Mrs. Hutchinson, suggested that the meeting close with the singing of "A Perfect Day" by the entire club.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

ERNEST SPARR GIVEN MOST PLEASANT SURPRISE UPON HIS ANNIVERSARY

Relatives and friends of Ernest Sparr planned and carried to a successful climax a surprise party given in honor of his birthday Saturday night. The affair took place at his home, 347 Salem street. Refreshments were served and the evening was spent in music, dancing, cards and a general, social good time.

The guests departed at a late hour, wishing the genial host many more happy birthdays. They were:
Mrs. Ada Harter, Tampa, Florida;
B. J. East, Anderson, Indiana; Mrs.
Vina Greenwell, Winchester, Indi-

FINE PAINTINGS

WELL KNOWN COLLECTION IS ON DISPLAY; WIDOW OF ARTIST LIVES HERE

Because of the fact that Mrs. Eugene Frank, widow of Eugene Frank, noted artist, who died several years ago, resides at 1558 Eagle Rock road, Glendale, it is of local interest that the nucleus of a permanent art gallery in Dallas, Texas, will be established by the opening of a gallery containing the Eugene Frank memorial collection, on the second floor of Bush Temple, December 16. Two art critics who have studied the galleries of Europe will be in charge and regular lectures on art will be given to meet the demands of art lovers of Dallas. The formal opening of the gallery will be held December 16 and officers of the Dallas Art association and members of the Dallas Woman's Forum will be guests at the studio tea to be given then. A short lecture on art has been arranged for the program.

Contains Valuable Paintings
The Eugene Frank collection contains pictures some of which are valued at $15,000; several by Bellini of the early Italian school and several by Pagano. "Mary Magdalene" by Bellini and the "Cherubs" are valued at $15,000 each. "The Fate of Argus" and another painting by Pagano are valued at $10,000 each. A. H.
Denis, who is one of the curators of the gallery, has visited all of the famous galleries of Europe and studied paintings of the early Italian school. He will give some of the lectures on this subject.

Paintings done by Mr. Frank are included in the exhibit. The gallery will open with forty-seven paintings.
One of the best known of Frank's paintings is "St. Amand," painted from a scene on the border of Belgium and Holland. Three of his paintings were exhibited in the window of Bush & Gerts, Saturday, in connection with the announcement of the opening.

Mrs. Frank's daughter, Miss Alice Frank, is now in Dallas.

Map of World Upon Uniform Scale Wanted

WASHINGTON.—It has long been the dream of geographers to make a series of maps of the world on a uniform scale. Indeed, it is considered unfortunate for school children that the geographies do not show all countries by maps on a single, uniform scale, for unless a student observes very carefully the figures showing the area of the country mapped he is likely to get the impression that certain distant lands, which are generally mapped on a small scale, are smaller than those with which he is most familiar.

Take Australia, for example: The maps in the geographies now used in most of our schools show it on a small scale—about one-third as large as that used for the map of the United States, yet Australia is in fact nearly as large as the United States —only one-fortieth (2 1/2 per cent) smaller. China is generally shown smaller in area than the United States, yet it is about one-third larger.

The work of preparing maps of the entire world on a uniform scale of one to one million—that is, maps on which one unit (any unit—inch, centimeter, millimeter, etc.) represents one million like units on the ground —has been under way for several years, and the United States geological survey, department of the interior, has made considerable progress in its work on the parts of this map that were assigned to the United States.

The principle used in preparing these maps, if adopted by the publishers of school books, will give the children accurate impressions of the relative sizes of the countries of the world.

The Geological Survey reports that the use of oil as fuel, in place of coal, is growing very slowly. Only in the regions near the oil fields has the change been such as to make oil a competitor of coal.

Establish Your Credit

You would not expect a perfect stranger to give you much of an accommodation in a financial way. You would not ask him for a loan. You would not expect it of a banker who knew nothing of your affairs unless you gave security.

But if you had done business with a banker and proved to his satisfaction that you were careful and trustworthy you would probably get an accommodation.

If you open a checking account at this bank we will be able to get a better opinion as to your financial methods and financial standing. As you handle your checking account in prosperous times you will handle your borrowed money in hard times.

Think this over, then talk it over with us.

TO DECIDE JUST HOW

as large as is being expended by other cities, workers will have to volunteer their services. T. W. Watson, city manager, informed the committee last night that a number of the municipal employees would be available for work on the float.

Incidentally, City Manager Watson and Mrs. L. W. Chobe, who did such satisfactory work on last year's prize winner, were made vice presidents of the present committee and will aid in perfecting the plans of the display to be made.

Sub-Committees Are Named As the result of discussion last night, a sub-committee composed of C. D. Lusby, J. G. Huntley and V. M.
Hollister was named by Chairman Kitterman to visit Pasadena and secure further details regarding the float entry and other matters from the Tournament of Roses organization.

A committee composed of Dr. Jessie A. Russell, W. B. Kelly, L. T.
Rowley and Miss Daniels was chosen to visit Los Angeles and secure other details that will aid the general committee in finally deciding upon a float.

In view of the fact that it was announced that the price of flowers has advanced about 30 per cent over that of last year, a sub-committee composed of Mr. Kelly, Mrs. Mabel Tight and City Manager Watson was selected to secure definite data on flowers.

Meeting Next Saturday Night
The general committee will meet at 7 o'clock next Saturday night to hear the report on the sum of money the people of Glendale have decided to invest in the float, and, too, to examine what designs have been submitted in answer to the offer of a prize of $10 for the best suggestion.
It is hoped by the committee that the art departments of the local schools will submit a number of designs and, too, that others will come from residents of Glendale generally and from these one suitable to represent Glendale may be selected—and that the people have subscribed a sum sufficient to finance it.

It is possible, of course, that what is considered the best design may prove too costly when considered with the sum of money subscribed by the people of the city. But the committee has fixed $1000 as the minimum for which a suitable float can be secured and it is hoped the people will subscribe that sum, at least.
Anyway, the committee, it was announced, will do its best with the suggestions made, the amount of money subscribed and the help of volunteer workers—and will stay out of debt while doing it.

In the meantime, many more subscriptions are needed—no matter how small—or large. Bring them to The Evening News office—or telephone and a representative will call and collect. All subscriptions are being acknowledged in the columns of The Evening News.

Remember, the float will be just as good as the people of Glendale want it—and the peoples' wants must be expressed in dollars.

THAT BUSY BEE

OFFICIAL EXPLODES FEW PET THEORIES CONCERNING BEES AND THEIR HABITS

Up to the present, people have believed the bee was about the busiest of all insects, but E. J. Bryan of Elgin, Ill., state inspector of the Chicago Northwestern Beekeepers' association, in an address before the association at Chicago, exploded a few pet theories.

"If you let the bee alone," said Mr. Bryan, "she will produce only enough honey to live on. So a bee-keeper has to be a slave driver. We work her day and night. We never give her an afternoon off, but keep after her every minute. If you are to succeed with bees, you must be a regular Simon Legree."

The dry summer and cold nights are responsible for the present high price of honey, according to Mr. Bryan. "Bees cannot produce honey from corn stalk," he said. They must have flowers, and in a dry season the flowers have no dew. When the nights are cold as they were last summer, the bees will not work. They cluster at the bottom of the hive and neglect their work."

Honey, as the true elixir of life, was boosted by the beekeepers. They say it contains more vitamins than beef or milk, and is the most easily long life of the old, and supply strength to the young.

REV. DUNGAN

FUNERAL OF NOTED EDUCATOR WILL BE HELD HERE THURS-DAY AFTERNOON

The funeral of Dr. David Roberts Dungan will take place from the Christian church tomorrow (Thursday) afternoon at 2 o'clock, with the pastor, Dr. C. A. Cole, in charge of the services.

Other clergymen taking part in the service are old friends of Dr.
Dungan's—Reverend S. M. Bernard, of the Pico Heights Christian church, Los Angeles; Reverend J. W. Maddux, pastor of the Lincoln Heights Christian church of Los Angeles; Reverend Hill M. Bell, formerly president of Drake university, and Reverend B. C. Hagerman, president of Hagerman college, Kentucky, who will give the principal address.

Mrs. John Cole, of North Orange avenue, will sing, and the pall bearers will be former students of Dr.
Dungan's when he taught in Drake university.

David Roberts Dungan was born in Noble county, Indiana, on the fifteenth day of May, 1837.

His early ancestors on both sides were natives of England. On the paternal side they crossed the ocean and settled near the site of the present city of Philadelphia, two years prior to the arrival of William Penn in America, and were among the first to purchase land from the United Colonies. The great grandfather of D. R. Dungan was a valiant soldier during the Revolutionary War.

His father, James Dungan, engaged in farming and operated a mill.
For many years he preached the gospel in his community, receiving no salary, content if he could in any way further his Master's cause. His wife, Mary A. Johns, the mother of D. R.
Dungan, died at the age of forty-five.
There were eight children born in the family and David R. was the last one to go home.

In Hoosier School District
David Dungan received his elementary education in the old-time Hoosier district schools, and after coming to the state of Iowa was permitted to attend Kentucky university for about a year, where he sat at the feet of McGarvey, Graham and Milligan, but his ripe scholarship and extensive knowledge were pre-eminently due to his own persistent effort.
On the 31st of March, 1858, he united with the church of Christ, by confession and baptism, in Harrison county, Iowa, and a year later preached his first sermon to a large audience in a grove in Pottawattamie county, Iowa. On the 17th of February, 1861, he was married to Mary Ann Kinnis, a native of Perth, Scotland. She was reared in Glasgow and in her fifteenth year came with her family to America. She was a wonderful helpmate to her husband all through the years, and her children and many student preachers rise up to call her "blessed." She passed to her eternal reward at Quincy, Illinois, June 20, 1904.

From 1859 until 1863 David R.
Dungan divided his energies among three callings: farming, teaching and preaching. The last year was spent in Plattsmouth, Nebraska, and in connection with his public school duties at that place he was pastor of two congregations. In 1864 he was appointed as the first state missionary in Nebraska and for six and one-half years he zealously devoted himself to that field of labor. He accepted a call from the church in Lincoln, Nebraska, in 1871 and served as pastor for three years.

During his residence in Lincoln, Nebraska, he was chaplain of the House during the session of the first State Legislature, and of the Senate in 1872 and '73. He was also one of the Board of Regents of the Nebraska State university. His first work in Iowa began in 1874, when he became pastor of the Oskaloosa church.

In 1878, while preaching in El-dora, Iowa, his name was placed before the people as the Prohibition candidate for governor of Iowa, not with the expectation of his being elected, but to forward an issue of vital importance to the nation.

Occupies University Chair
He held pastorates in Mt. Pleasant and Davenport, Iowa, and in 1883 was called to the chair of sacred literature in Drake university. The following year he was chosen vice-president of the College of Arts and Sciences, and in 1887 was made Dean of the Theological Department.

To better prepare himself for his work, in the fall of 1889 he made a tour of the Old World, bringing back with him a fund of knowledge which has since enriched his students. He continued at Drake university until 1890, when he was elected president of Cotner university at Lincoln, Nebraska. He left Cotner in the fall of 1896 and took charge of the Mount Cabanne church in St. Louis, Missouri, where he remained five years.

In 1901 he became president of Christian university at Canton, Missouri. In 1905 he was recalled to Drake university for work in the bible department, and his health failing, after five years of teaching he came to Glendale, California, where the last ten years of his life was spent.

In addition to his work as a teacher and preacher, he was noted as a debater and was the author of many publications. His best known and most widely read book was "On the Rock," which is now in its forty-seventh edition.
Eight children were born to his company.

Newspaper Man Makes
Good Police Officer

CHICAGO—The new fashion of putting newspaper men in places of power—'instance, President-elect Harding—is being tried in the Chicago police department.

Chicago has had chiefs of police who were politicians, professional policemen and soldiers. Now a newspaper man, Charles C. Fitzmorris, at the age of 36, has the job of doing what the others failed to do—clean up crime.

"If things aren't rubber-stamped and Charlie Fitzmorris starts to clean up on crime," said a newspaper man who knew him when he started as a copy boy twenty years ago, "he'll make a thorough job of it."

Mayor Thompson says Fitz is not a rubber stamp. In naming him the mayor conferred "absolute authority," and added:

"No one is authorized to speak for me or ask you anything in my name." Fitz is going ahead on that basis.
He has started to be a go-getter.
First he "got" a few men on the force by transferring 500 to new fields. Eight days after he took office he personally went out with a gun, captured two bank robbery suspects and recovered $8687 in loot.

Here are some other things he did before he was a month old as chief: Deposed Detective Chief J. L.
Mooney and made Lieut. Michael Hughes chief.

Started to draft new anti-crook laws, chief of which is a law making robbery with a gun punishable by imprisonment for life.

Started suspending delinquent policemen instead of using the red tape and whitewash of trial board charges.

Punished six policemen who let a wounded bandit escape from a hospital by suspending them so each loses $160 pay.

Initiated gambling raids that brought 462 arrests in one night.

Planned motorcycle squad to check clockwork regularity of Saturday payroll robberies.

Drafted plan for merit system—merit marks for good work and demerits for every crime committed, from district captain down to patrolman.

The association of British chambers of commerce has resolved that there should be no English resumption of trade with Russia until that nation pays her old debts.

union with Mary Ann Kinnis, Alvin and Mary dying in infancy, and Ella Dungan Jordan of Quincy, Illinois, departing this life October 1, 1906.
The others of the family are all here today to revere and honor the memory of their father—David Edgar, of Denver, Colorado; Robert Milligan, of San Bernardino, California; Dr.
James Arthur, of Greeley, Colorado; Allen Benton, of Wilkesbarre, Pennsylvania, and Daniel Garfield, of Hastings, Nebraska.

He was united in marriage with Miss Nora Madden, of Pennsylvania, March 27, 1908, at St. Paul, Minnesota, and his last years were rendered most peaceful and happy by her untiring loyalty and devotion. "He rests from his labors and his works do follow him."

Interment will be made in Forest Lawn cemetery, under the auspices of the L. G. Seavern Undertaking company.

Bradford, Mass., academy, founded in 1803, claims to be the oldest institution in New England for the higher education of women.

The second national boys and girls' dairy cattle judging contest was won by a team of three boys from Missouri. The Illinois team won second place and Texas took third.

Experiments carried out by the bureau of markets show that baled cotton suffers severe damage by long exposure to the weather. A bale of cotton, left in the open on the ground was damaged to the extent of 370 pounds in eight months.

WHOLE WHALE

PACKER SAVES EVERYTHING IN OPERATIONS, EVEN TEETH BEING UTILIZED

Chicago packers, who are reputed to save all parts of the pig except the squeal, are being outdistanced by J. A. Magill of the company bearing his name, who catches beluga, or white whales, near Anchorage, Alaska, and saves every pound of the mammals, including the teeth. Mr. Magill says the capture and handling of the whale is a most exciting as well as profitable sport.

European manufacturers, he said, are willing to take every pound of hide he can offer. Mr. Magill tells of seeing schools of these whales, which average about fifteen feet in length, numbering 10,000. They are so numerous near Cook inlet and in the Bering sea that excursionists, when they see a school of them, many times mistake the humps of the whales for whitecaps.

Mr. Magill, who is a pioneer in his work, invented a scheme for catching whales without shooting them in the open sea. The beluga come up to the mouth of the Beluga river, thirty-four miles southwest from Anchorage, following fish. At low tide, where there is a maximum high tide of thirty-five feet, Mr. Magill lays a net. One end is staked in the mud flats, and along the net runs a hose which is connected with an air compressor on shore, the entire outfit remaining on the bottom of the river while the tide and the whales are coming in. Just before the tide goes out Mr. Magill turns a level and air rushes into the hose, lifting up one edge of the net, thereby creating a barrier through which the whales cannot pass on their way back to the ocean.

Floated to Plant

When the tide goes out the net is entirely dry and the whales are forced to swim up the river. They are followed in dories which have drift nets, thereby compelling the white whales to get into the mud flats. One shot in the brain from a 30-30 rifle kills the mammal, although 100 shots in the body would not do the trick. The average beluga weighs about a ton and a half.

The whales are immediately floated ten miles to the rendering plant, where they are hauled up in the same manner that timber is taken from water to the saws. With the aid of machinery operated by a donkey engine the mammals are stripped of hide from head to foot. The hides are salted and shipped to Europe to be made into razor straps, belt lacing, hunters' sporting goods, waterproof leather articles and similar high-class merchandise, and the Europeans are active bidders for the hides.

The blubber is compressed for oil, and the average fifteen-foot whale yields seventy-five gallons of the highest grade whale oil. A pound of oil may be extracted from the jaws, which sells for $80 a gallon and is used by jewelers for clocks and watches.

Some of the meat is dried and cut up for dog feed, and a crushing plant reduces the 200 pounds of bone in the average mammal to chicken feed and fertilizer. The teeth, which are

IT'S LAST DAY

TONIGHT ENDS TIME WHEN TAX PAYMENT PERMITTED WITHOUT PENALTIES

According to an estimate made at the office of John P. Carter, collector of internal revenue, Los Angeles, income tax collections for the year just closing will total about $22,000,000 in the Los Angeles district.

As already announced in The Evening News, final payments are due from all persons who are paying on the installment plan not later than December 15, which is today. The office of the collector will be kept open tonight to care for the late arrivals.

It is said there are a few delinquents for 1918 and a larger number for 1919. While these delinquents cannot escape the penalties and interest fixed by the laws by voluntary payment of what they owe the government, they can escape an additional charge on account of the serving of a warrant in distraint.

small, but pure ivory, are sold to jewelers.

Luxury for Natives

The meat from the white whale, Mr. Magill claims, is superior in eating quality to that of the large whale, and it is considered a luxury by the natives in the north.

In addition to the Cook Inlet and Bering sea waters the white whales are plentiful on the Siberian coast and in the Anadyr river, Siberia, Mr. Magill says.

"I have had lots of excitement up north," he said, "but never as much as when we get a school of these whales trapped and begin to corner them on the mud flats. They are not offensive fighters, but will battle when on the defensive by swishing their tails and trying to bowl over those who are intent upon killing them."

"The young naturally start swimming as soon as they are born. They are dark purple, and do not turn white until a year old. The young swim under the fins of the cow whale and come up for air at the same time she does. When there is danger of attack the cow whale will strike the young one with a fin and hide it under the fin."

CHARACTER SHOWN BY PENCILS

Lead pencils will reveal the characters of their owners quite faithfully. You can be pretty certain, for instance, that an artistic man's pencil will have a long, tapering point, while the individual who takes care not to cut away more wood than is necessary, is nearly always of an economical turn of mind.

Some people chew their pencils, and thereby show that they are unusually cautious, always thinking well over any plan of action before committing themselves to it. When they're anything to write, for example, they sit nibbling upon what they had better put down.

Have you ever met the man who seems to carry nothing but short stubs, and never by any chance produces a complete stick of pencil? He's a good-natured chap—not mean, as one might imagine. Friends used to borrow his pencil and not return it; so he decided to carry stubs.

CLEAR STATEMENT

DEFINITE DECLARATION IS BEING DEMANDED, STATES DR. C. M. CRIST

At the First Methodist church Sunday morning a crowd that almost completely filled the great auditorium listened to a sermon by Dr. C. M. Crist on "The Palms and Wells of Elin." In the evening another large company gathered to hear a presentation by Dr. Crist on "The New Birth." Choosing as his text John 3:7, "Marvel not that I said unto thee, ye must be born again," Dr. Crist said in part:

"The world is not demanding a new gospel or another Christ; what it does demand is a clear statement of the fundamentals of Christianity. Among the essential things of the gospel is the fact of the new birth. 'Nowhere is this doctrine more succinctly set forth than in the first seventeen verses of the third chapter of John. It is presented in that most compelling narrative in reference to Nicodemus and Jesus. The personalities of this narrative and the profound truth presented make this a scripture of outstanding importance. As we analyze this divine narrative we find first of all the necessity of the new birth. 'Except a man be born again he cannot see the kingdom of God.' This is re-enforced in the fifth and seventh verses. 'Except a man be born of water and of the spirit he cannot enter into the kingdom of God.' Marvel not that I said unto thee, ye must be born again."

Result of Spiritual Birth

"Citizenship," said Dr. Crist, "in the kingdoms and commonwealths of earth comes as the privilege of birth. One born in any country is a citizen of that country. In the kingdom of heaven citizenship is likewise the privilege of birth. Not of the natural birth; that was the Jewish conception; but it is the result of a spiritual birth. The necessity of regeneration is stated in the sixth verse in these words, 'That which is born of the flesh is flesh; and that which is born of the spirit is spirit.'"

Dr. Crist next called attention to the mystery of the new birth. "There is," said he, "something in regeneration that corresponds to natural generation. From our earthly parents we inherit according to the flesh; from the Divine we inherit that which is spiritual. Nicodemus said, 'How can these things be?' Jesus replied, 'The wind bloweth where it listeth and thou hearest the sound thereof but cannot tell whence it cometh or whither it goeth; so is every one that is born of the spirit!'"

Several Proofs of Reality

"There are," he continued, "several proofs of the reality of the spiritual birth suggested by the scriptures. In Romans 8:16 we read, 'The spirit himself beareth witness with our spirit; that we are the children of God.' Again we read, 'He that believeth hath the witness within himself, old things have passed away and behold all things have become new.' In 1 John 4:13 we have the following statement, 'Hereby know we that we dwell in him and he in us, because he hath given us of his spirit.'"

In conclusion, Dr. Crist showed how one may experience the new birth. "There is," said he, "just one way and that is the way of faith. As Moses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness, even so must the Son of Man be lifted up that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have eternal life. For God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish but have everlasting life."

STORY OF THE PANSY

The centenary of the pansy was celebrated a few years ago by the English florists and the history of the flower as given at the time was as follows:

"Just 100 years ago Lady Mary Bennett, a daughter of the earl of Tankerville, was so struck with the simple beauty of a tiny wildling viola tri-color that she collected some of the best plants and gave them careful cultivation. The first batch of seedlings raised by her gave such promise that systematic selection was at once instituted, and, thereafter the improvement of the genus was taken up by the leading growers. Thus to an enthusiastic amateur we are indebted for one of the most popular and beautiful of our garden flowers."

New Mexico farmers who grow pinto beans declare that the next few years will see this product a regular article of food in every home in America. The farmers have standardized their product and, to a large extent, market it co-operatively.

FIND PAINTING

VALUABLE WORK STOLEN IN ITALY IS RECOVERED BY FRENCH AUTHORITIES

PARIS—After a ten months' search of French art galleries the police here have discovered in the shop of a Paris dealer a painting of the "Virgin and Child," which was stolen from the church of Ste. Marie des Crotes in Italy about a year ago.

The painting is valued at $20,000 and was sold by the thieves who stole it for that many francs.

The price for which they sold it aroused the dealers' suspicions and there followed the arrest of two brothers who it was charged succeeded with the connivance of a railroad guard in crossing the Franco-Italian frontier with the painting.

The famous theft of Leonardo da Vinci's "Mona Lisa" being recalled by this incident, dealers here declare that it is impossible for a great work of art to be stolen without it being found, "the Mona Lisa" having been returned to the Louvre after the person who stole it had tried in vain for two years to find a purchaser of it.

The painting of the "Virgin and Child," which has just been recovered is the work of Duccio di Buoninsegna, a Siennese painter, whose famous altar piece in the cathedral of Siena was begun in 1308. He was one of the founders of the Siena school of art.

Lary Ramsey, former Princess "Pat" of Connaught, is living in Paris in a three-room flat that does not even boast a bathroom. However, she outranks the British ambassador to France, and there is much speculation over the peculiar situation of social precedence.

The Northwest Square Deal, daily newspaper of the Non-partisan League at Aberdeen, South Dakota, has gone into the hands of receivers. Many farmers invested heavily in the publication.

The greatest thing any living man can do at this moment is to urge with all his being the substitution of judicial processes for war.

ELIGIBLE LIST

TEACHERS' EXAMINATION TO BE HELD TO FIND THOSE TO FILL VACANCIES

It is more than probable that a number of Glendale residents may be interested in the announcement that the Los Angeles county school authorities have decided to create an eligible list for filling vacancies in the teaching staff through resignations and opening of new school buildings.

The Evening News is informed that an examination of applicants for teachers' certificates will be held for three days, beginning December 27, in the hall of records, Los Angeles.

The announcement of the examination comes from Mark Keppel, county superintendent of schools, who also stated that there are several hundred applications on file.

Stitch and Chatter

The telephone rang just as Alice opened the door to her cousin Nell. "Come in," said the hostess, "you're early, for once, and I'm glad of it, for I've something to show you, just as soon as I answer this 'phone." And Alice sat down to the telephone-stand and took down the receiver.

"This is 134-J," she said, in a conversational tone. Then Nell noticed her face flush and her voice change to the cold tone Alice always assumed when she was displeased.

"Whom do you wish to speak with?" she said. Then after a pause—"If you came to my door and I answered your ring would you say, when the door opened, 'Who is this?' No; you would say, politely, 'How do you do? I am Mrs. Smith; are you Mrs. Brown?' There is no reason why the same courteous address should not be used in a telephone interview; instead of that, I receive you by answering your ring properly, by giving my number, and you demand to know who I am—and insist on your demand when I ask you whom you wish to speak with. You wouldn't dream of using that abrupt mode of address if you came to my door; why not use courtesy in telephoning as well?"

Having delivered this frank lesson on telephone courtesy, Alice accepted the embarrassed apology of the lady on the other end of the line, and went on with her conversation. "Alice, who in the world was that? And do you know you are coldly, brutally frank?" exclaimed Nell, as the receiver clicked into place.

"Yes, I'm brutally frank," admitted Alice, "and I'm mortally tired of having 'Who is this?' hurled at me when I take down my receiver to answer a call. It's pure thoughtlessness and lack of imagination—I abhor people who lack imagination, anyway—for no one who felt himself really in my presence would affront me with 'Who are you?' From now on I'm on an educative campaign; I'm going to resent that thing, every time."

"Now come here and see what I have to show you."

Alice led the way to her room, where she unlocked her desk and produced several large photographs in folders.

"Oh, how did you ever get such a beautiful, natural, characteristic picture of little Junior? And what studio were they taken in?" Nell exclaimed in delight.

"They were not taken in a studio at all, look again," answered Alice.

"Why, they were taken in your own living room, of course, I see now; and this one of the three children was taken in the nursery, of course. What a dear likeness of little Frances! I never saw a better picture! But who's the photographer? Is it too late for me to have some made for Christmas? I've been intending to sit for a picture for a long time, Robert wants a new picture of me; and little Bobby's growing so and changing so much I simply must have some new pictures of him. Is it too late for Christmas pictures?"

"No, it isn't too late; pictures taken up to December 20 will be finished in time for Christmas," replied Alice. "I think these are by far the most artistic, most natural pictures we've ever had of the children. I'm going to have them framed for John's Christmas gift."

"But who took them?" persisted Nell.

"Oh, I'm coming to that; they are the work of Ralph Willis Brown, who has bought the Cooksey studio at 215 North Brand boulevard. He's a real artist, as you see; and he seems especially skillful in getting children to pose naturally. He's internationally known, having exhibited in London and Scottish salons."

"Here comes the rest of the Stitch-and-Chatter-ers; let's take the pictures in to show to them," said Alice as she went to open the door to the other club members.

Declaring that it spoils the tranquil peace of the country, the English rural people are making moves to abolish the motor bus from the country road. These busses roar through quiet little villages raising great clouds of dust, frightening pedestrians and exciting the wrath of motorists.

When John Quincy Adams went to Washington as president, one of his popular recreations was to take his private secretary and some good friends and swim in the Potomac for an hour. He was an expert swimmer.
